

Atomic Energy Means Peaceful Prosperity

When the National Accelerator Laboratory is constructed in Weston—anticipated to be completed in the mid 1970's—Illinois may well claim the title of nuclear capital of the world.

The newly initiated Weston Laboratory, combined with the Dresden Nuclear Power Station near Morris, and the great number of electric power plants throughout the State, pushes Illinois toward the top as a "super charged" area. The benefits generated from these "power houses" are felt throughout the State and in a multitude of ways.

"One of the major reasons that Illinois was chosen as the location for the Accelerator Laboratory was the availability of water resources," explains Gene Graves, Chairman of the Natural Resources Development Board, and director of the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development.

"The natural supply of water found in Illinois is an especially important factor to the growth of industry in the State," Graves pointed out. "Yet, at the same time that we use water resources to build up the economy and general progress of the State, we must be aware of our responsibilities to preserve this mighty natural resource which we have around us."

Taking a look at what such facilities as the Accelerator Laboratory means to Illinois, Graves reported that the impact will be felt on various levels of economy and education.

Some 2,000 top scientists will staff the Laboratory, with supporting personnel of at least a thousand more persons such as engineers, chemists, and technicians. These 3,000 plus persons, along with their families will enhance the overall economy of Illinois.

In addition to the economy, Illinois industry will benefit from the presence of the Laboratory, as well as, the impact to be felt by colleges and universities.

Laboratory personnel will work closely with industry to research and develop new techniques and products. It is also anticipated that new scientifically-oriented industries will be located in the general vicinity of the accelerator, which will be the world's largest and most costly scientific instrument.

The new Laboratory will be a pioneering facility in the area of high energy physics. When the Laboratory is complete, it will house the world's largest atom smasher which will enable the research to delve into such questions as the expansion of the universe, gravity and the origin of matter. Their answers may create new sciences, revolutionize old ones, and perhaps even revolutionize the lives of everyone, Graves reported.

Graves emphasized that the purpose of the Accelerator Laboratory will be to search for peaceful uses of nuclear energy. It will not be an arsenal, but a research center designed to advance mechanical and biological research, diagnosis and therapy, space travel studies and discovery of new economic tools," he said.

"While we are looking forward to reaping many benefits from the Laboratory, we are not overlooking the problems which could easily be caused by such a plant," he explained.

Throughout all of the planning for the Laboratory, extreme caution has been observed to meet safe standards and avoid depletion or contamination of the natural water resources of the area. This means that hot water will not be dumped into area waterways which might kill off the fish; nor will contaminated refuse be allowed to pollute nearby streams.

By using wells on the site, enough water will be available for the domestic use of the personnel and their families. The Fox River, the major source of water for operation of the Laboratory will be tapped only when it is high and will not be bothered during the drier summer season when top priority will be given to the recreational value of the river.

At the Laboratory site, there will be ponds built to store the raw water from the Fox River, to catch rain and to serve as water-cooler depositories. This water will be used and reused until it becomes undesirable. Then, it will be treated to meet pure-water standard and released back into adjoining streams.

"The Weston project is a good example of how we can utilize our water resources in Illinois without destroying them," Graves said. "With more and more demands being placed upon our water supply, we must make an even greater effort to protect the resources."

AARP To Install Officers Tuesday

The recently elected officers of the Antioch Area Chapter No. 387 of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) will be installed Tuesday, Sept. 10, in the Community Room of the Antioch Savings & Loan building.

George W. Drysdale, Illinois State Director and past president of the Lake County Chapter, Waukegan, will conduct the installation.

The driver's course program is set up in the interest of senior citizens and earmarked "Driver Plan-55 Plus."

The members who have completed the driver course are now registered as "Defensive Driving Course" instructors.

As soon as dates for holding a driving course in Antioch is scheduled under the sponsorship of the local AARP chapter, the general public in the age bracket of 55 years and up will be encouraged to attend the eight sessions of two hours each.

Those taking the course will have the advantage of getting a better insurance rate and it also will assist in their driver's license renewal application.

The indictment charged them with the burglary on Aug. 9, of the Chuck Wagon Restaurant, Rt. 173, Antioch Township. Bonds were set at $15,000 each by County Circuit Judge Philip W. Yager, before whom the indictments were returned.

The jury also returned indictments against four other persons.

James Salek, 25, of Cicero, was charged with the May 20 burglary of Elmann's Resort, Fox Lake. Bond was set at $100,000.

Charles C. Miller, 52, of 409 Ravine Ave., Waukegan, was indicted for attempted murder and aggravated battery in the Aug. 24 shooting of Vernon Estes, 31, of 3021 Gilboa Ave., Zion. Bond was set at $10,000.

Civil Defense Siren Will Be Operated Manually

If you hear the civil defense siren wailing in Antioch from now on you had better head for cover.

It will not be a trial run. This was decided Tuesday night by the Antioch Village Board.

The board in a unanimous vote approved manual operation of the siren.

In other words, if a tornado or bombing alert is in the offing, a member of the Antioch Police Department will operate the siren by manually pressing the button.

The move was made because of the fact that the siren has gone off erroneously on several occasions in the past few months, alerting the citizenry for nothing. Trustee Richard Burnette suggested that when the siren went off accidentally that a two-minute all clear blast on the fire whistle would suffice for telling the citizens it was all a mistake.

He changed his mind, however, when it was pointed out that someone who didn't hear the first blast would come charging to the station to help out with the non-existent fire.

Mayor Raymond Toft announced that the signal had already been disconnected and that the manual situation should prevail. Burnette said he had checked with federal authorities and found that there is no all clear signal that can be blown if the siren goes off accidentally, or if a legitimate tornado or bombing does occur.

The all clear signal in that case would come over the civil defense band on the radio.

In other action the board acted on a petition by residents of Bishop Street that the Soo-Line trains have been coming through town too fast.

The board voted unanimously to have attorney Edward Jacobs send a letter of protest to the Illinois Commerce Commission and to the railroad authorities.

It was pointed out that the railroad is authorized to travel through the town at a 55 mile an hour rate—but residents have protested that this has been exceeded.

At the present time there is no village ordinance to control the speed of the railroad cars.

DIRT REMOVED

Trustee Vern L. Barnstable reported that some 3,000 yards of dirt have been removed from the polishing ponds that are being constructed to augment treatment at the sewage plant.

Barnstable said the dirt was removed at no cost to the village—which has been stymied in an effort to get a workable contract for the removal work.

Barnstable said that those who are taking the dirt are also shaping the pond at the same time.

The board also approved the sending of Fire Chief Charles P. Mapletorpe and two firemen to a meeting of the Illinois Fire Chiefs meeting to be held in Dolton, Illinois.

PAYMENTS OKAYED

Hammond St., Mundelein), who teaches at Antioch High School, is shown in the Johnson Memorial Science Center at Lake Forest College, where he attended the regional physics institute sponsored in cooperation with the Illinois State Physics Project of the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. It was one of six summer institutes supported by the National Science Foundation to aid high school teachers in developing teaching methods and related activities to make physics more relevant and interesting to students. Mr. Etzbach is working with an experiment to demonstrate quantitatively expansion of gases on heating and to introduce the concept of an absolute temperature.

August left us with an average high of 80.8°F (last year it was 76.3°F), with five days of 90° or over, making it 14 days for the summer season so far. Last year we had four days 90° or over.

The Purple Martins left our area last Friday for their gathering points and the mosquitoes are glad, but I'm not.

By Cong. Robert McClory

Enactment of the Monday Holiday Bill, of which this Member of Congress was the principal sponsor, means that residents of the District of Columbia and Federal employees will enjoy 4 long weekends beginning in 1971.

As passed by Congress and approved by the President the Bill provides for the observance of Washington's Birthday on the third Monday in February, Memorial Day on the last Monday in May, Columbus Day on the second Monday in October, and Veterans Day on the fourth Monday in October.

While this new legislation is limited to the subjects of which the Federal government has jurisdiction, it is expected that most of the 50 states will follow the Federal pattern.

State Senator Egbert Groen of Pekin has introduced several measures in the Illinois General Assembly which would make the new Monday Holiday legislation effective throughout our State of Illinois. Similar legislative measures have been presented in New York, New Jersey, Hawaii, Kentucky and other states.

In the August issue of Illinois Banker—the official publication of the Illinois Bankers Association—it is pointed out that the new Federal legislation "could result in some savings in the operation" of commercial banks. The Illinois Banker comments further that "supporters of the Monday Holiday Bill asserts that Monday Holiday legislation will increase employee production and reduce employee absenteeism and will eliminate the close-down and start-up cost connected with midweek holidays."

Similar savings are expected in the entire business and industrial community, provided that the Federal law gains substantial uniformity throughout the states.

In order to encourage State legislatures to act before the effective date of January 1, 1971, this Member of Congress has communicated with the legislatures of all 50 states urging prompt enactment of complementary state laws.

All but three state legislatures have regular sessions in 1969. The others (Kentucky, Mississippi and Virginia) will meet early in 1970. It is the hope of the sponsors of the Federal Monday Holiday Act (P.L. 90-363) that all of the states will pass legislation in order that the benefits of this Act may be felt nationwide.

The United States Chamber of Commerce is active in promoting such state legislation during 1969 and early 1970. Calendar manufacturers need time for producing the 1971 calendars to reflect the passage of the Uniform Monday Holiday Act. Schools and various business and civic organizations can utilize the interim period also for adjusting to the new holiday schedule.

The broad benefits and effects of this unique legislation have not yet been fully explored. Exciting, worthwhile and rewarding long weekend holidays await the American public in 1971. It is hoped that the Federal example will be adopted by all 50 states—to the end that the laudable objectives of the Monday Holiday Act may be enjoyed by all Americans.

Compensation Increased For Disabled Vets

More than 77,000 Illinois veterans with disabilities, resulting from military service will receive $8,300,000 additional monthly compensation beginning January 1, 1969, as the result of legislation signed August 19 by President Johnson.

John B. Naser, manager of the Veterans Administration's regional office in Chicago, said today that monthly payments to service-disabled veterans will rise from $69,000,000 to $77,300,000.

Veterans with 100 per cent service-connected disabilities will be raised from $300 to $400 a month. Veterans rated 10 to 90 per cent disabled by VA will receive an approximate eight per cent increase in their basic compensation. The increases range from $2

The auto's rear wheels damaged two picnic tables and a swing set owned by the Erbs.

According to sheriff's deputies' reports, poor visibility may have caused the accident.

Increases will be automatic with no action necessary by the veteran, the VA manager stressed. First checks reflecting the raise will be due February 1.

Nationally, the new law which passed both the Senate and House unanimously, will provide an estimated $234,700,000 in additional benefits the first year to 112,000 totally disabled veterans and to 1,840,000 veterans with less than 100 per cent disabilities.

In the last fiscal year VA paid $1,954,000,000 to 2,011,000 service disabled veterans.

Don't Get Mad

It takes a while for things to sink into our head, but this one thought finally got through.

The Village fathers don't want to make anyone mad.

A prime example of this is the proposed sign ordinance that came up for passage before the village board a couple of weeks ago.

Board Attorney Edward C. Jacobs had worked long and hard on the ordinance—at the request of the trustees.

But when it was finally presented, and read by Jacobs, there were all sorts of excuses given why it wasn't any good—and possibly needed more work.

We felt that the excuses were all kind of weak.

One trustee posed the question of what to do with the businessman in town who has three signs.

The ordinance took care of that, it eliminated the three signs and made it one.

Another one said what about so and so. He has had his signs there for years.

Board attorney Jacobs, obviously nettled by his employers, returned with "why didn't you bring these things up when we discussed the ordinance."

We happen to feel that a legitimate sign ordinance, that covers everyone, would be good for the village.

It would bring conformity out of chaos and give our town a better image.

It seems to us that the village fathers would stop being wishy-washy and either vote it in or out.

If it would be good for the town, then vote for it and put it into effect.

If it is not good for the town, then vote it down and let's get on to other business.

A Probe Needed

We were quite concerned on reading that some 30 newspapermen, photographers and television people were clubbed by policemen in Chicago during the Democratic convention.

There is an old saying that no one likes a newspaperman or a policeman.

It appears now that the policeman doesn't like us either.

It seems to use that to hinder the coverage of an event strikes awfully close to a police state action and we resent this because it deprives our readers of their basic right to know.

Writing a story from a hospital bed can be a painful operation.

We want to clarify this, however, in that we are sure the police could not tell the newsman from the hippies or yuppies or whatever, if the newsman was running with the pack.

But we also have reports of newsmen being singled out for beatings wearing the armbands issued by the police department.

It seems that all the bands did was to draw the clubs like magnets.

We do not like mobs, nor do we like bully policemen.

Our children are brought up to respect the policeman and go to him in time of trouble—but you can't do this if he is going to hit you in the head.

We are not quarreling about the legitimate force needed to quell mob action.

But we feel that some of the cops in Chicago got a kick out of beating someone—and we were the prime target.

It would seem to us that an investigation of beatings administered for beating sake should be probed.

Letters to the Editor

20 August 1968

Dear Friends,

I am nearing the end of my tour in Vietnam and thought it appropriate at this time to write and express to all my sincerest thanks to everyone involved in Project Vietnam.

I can't tell you how much all the packages, newspapers, Christmas cards and all the other mail I've received this past year means to me. I'm sure all the men who have served over here and are serving now will agree with me that mail call is the most looked forward to part of the day.

During my tour of Vietnam I traveled from Cam Rhan Bay to Qui Nhon where I was permanently assigned as a clerk typist with HHC, 45th Engr. Gp. After six months in Qui Nhon the company moved to the Da Nang area where I have spent the remaining 6 months of my tour. In a short period I will once again join the ranks of civilian life and will return to my former job at A. C. Electronics in Oak Creek, Wisconsin as an apprentice for Experimental Product Builder where I will also continue attending Milwaukee Technical College on a part time basis for Technical Engineering.

Again I wish to say thanks for helping make my tour a more pleasant one. I am looking forward to getting back to the good old U.S.A. and seeing all my friends and relatives and assume the position I once held back in November of '66.

Yours truly,
Sp/5 Michael R. Johnson

Dear Sir:

Thank you very much for the small gift that I received today. It makes my heart feel good to know that I have the support of people like you for the job which I'm doing. I pray each night that peace will come to Vietnam and all of us can come home. Until an agreement can be made I will serve the United States' purpose even if I must give my life to do so.

A Friend,
Billie R. Powell, USAF, PCR.

Man Killed On Grass Lake Rd.

A car accident claimed the life of Waldemar D. Krueger of 1310 Brodie Drive, Ingleside last Wednesday night on Grass Lake Road west of Lake Shore Drive, in Antioch Township.

Krueger was taken to St. Theresa Hospital by the Fox Lake Rescue Squad and was dead on arrival at the hospital.

William Cawthorn, 21, of 1008 Watts Road, Spring Grove, a passenger in the car was also taken to St. Theresa Hospital but was released from the hospital on Friday, Aug. 30.

A witness, Nancy Swart of 210 A. Hiawatha Terrace, Mt. Prospect, told Sheriff's Deputy Thomas Brown that she was traveling west on Grass Lake Road and noticed two vehicles approaching her car from the rear. They passed her at a high rate of speed. She said she was driving 50 miles per hour, the posted speed.

Krueger's car was the second to pass her vehicle on the curve. It went onto the north shoulder of the road with its right front wheel. When the car returned to the road, it traveled to the shoulder on the south side of the road and rolled over, according to Miss Swart.

Funeral services for Krueger were conducted Monday from the Hamsher Funeral Home in Fox Lake, with interment at Fox Lake Cemetery.

Krueger was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar Krueger.

Walter E. Winn, 78, president of Pure Milk Association from 1951 to 1959, nationally prominent leader of dairy farmers, and historian, died of a heart attack Tuesday, Aug. 27, at his home on Rt. 1, Richmond.

He was born February 17, 1890 on a dairy farm adjacent to a farm he purchased in 1916 and farmed ever since except for six years spent as a teacher.

He had been a member of Pure Milk Association since its beginning in 1926 and was a leader in obtaining recognition for that giant cooperative as the bargaining representative of dairy farmers on the Chicago milk market.

Besides serving as president of PMA for eight years, he served as its treasurer, 1942-50, and as a director from 1935 to 1959.

Mr. Winn served six years (1953-59) as first vice-president of the National Milk Producers Federation, Washington, D.C., an organization representing many dairy farmer cooperatives on federal legislation and government actions important to producers.

He was a member of the executive committee of the American Dairy Association six years preceding his retirement and served in a similar capacity with the American Dairy Association of Illinois.

He had also served as a director of the Illinois Milk Producers Association and had been a member of Farm Bureau since 1915.

He served on a committee of the National Milk Producers Federation and National Grange which developed a self-help plan which was submitted for congressional action to improve and stabilize prices paid dairy farmers.

Grass Lake Needs 1st Grade Teacher

Grass Lake School needs a first grade teacher, according to Superintendent John Schockmel.

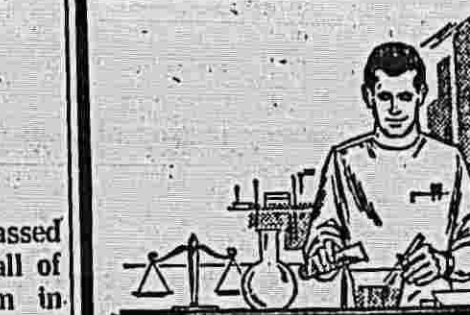

A teacher was hired during the summer, but two days before school started she sent in her resignation.

Mr. Schockmel asks that anyone interested and qualified should contact him immediately at the school.

The Law Serves You

A Public Service of the ILLINOIS STATE BAR ASSOCIATION

LOSS OF CIVIL RIGHTS BITTER PILL OF CRIME

The person who is convicted of a crime in Illinois may suffer more from the loss of his rights as a citizen than from his fine or imprisonment.

The Illinois Constitution provides that any person convicted of "bribery, perjury or other infamous crime" may not be elected to the "General Assembly or to any office of profit or trust in this State."

According to the Illinois State Bar Association, infamous crimes include arson, bigamy, forgery, incest, murder, rape, kidnapping, among others, provided that the punishment imposed upon conviction is imprisonment in a penitentiary.

Persons convicted, and imprisoned for such crimes, the law says: "... shall forever thereafter be rendered incapable of holding any office of honor, trust, or profit, or voting in any election, or serving as a juror, unless he or she is again restored to such rights by the terms of a pardon for the offense or otherwise according to the law."

The phrase "otherwise according to the law" includes court action reversing or setting aside the conviction.

In addition, a convicted person, at anytime after his conviction, may petition the governor for a restoration of his rights.

The person convicted of a felony—that is, any crime for which the punishment is a prison term—also loses his right to vote in any election. However, the governor or a court may restore

Antioch Girls Home From European Trip

Two Antioch teenagers, Laura Otfeldahl and Ainslee Brook, along with Antioch High School teacher Christy Arendt, returned recently from a trip that took them to France, Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Yugoslavia. They were members of the German Language Tour sponsored by the World Academy of Foreign Study.

They flew to Paris, and then on to Frankfurt, Germany. From there they traveled by bus and visited Heidelberg, Stuttgart, Munich, Salzburg, Austria, Innsbruck and Graz, Austria.

They stayed for a month at the University of Graz, where they studied German and had ample opportunity to use the language. The girls lived in a new dormitory which was very modern and compared favorably to the new college dormitories in the United States.

"When we arrived in Graz," Laura commented, "the Governor and Mayor had a welcoming ceremony for our group of 67 which was the first group of Americans who ever studied in Graz.

"The people in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland were very friendly to us and when we left Graz, they had a farewell luncheon for us."

Some of Laura's impressions were: "People in France were not very friendly to the Americans. . . . We were impressed by all of the countries. . . . We didn't notice too many teenagers in the European cities. We were told that many go to camps and vacation during the summer months. . . . Didn't notice too many U. S. cars in the cities they visited. Most of the cars were Volkswagens. . . . Roads were excellent, and the busses were modern and very nice. . . . Autobahn beautiful, but other roads not. . . . in the city second class compared to America's."

We were able to get more for our dollars in Europe than in the United States.

The girls visited Maribor and Pluj, Yugoslavia where they visited a wine cellar. They did not feel a deep friendliness on the part of the Yugoslavs toward the Americans, and found the cities they visited just fairly modern.

A bus trip to Innsbruck was a highlight of the trip, and they visited the site where the 1964 Olympics were held.

Frostee Foam Company employees and their families had a big treat last Wednesday night when Laura showed color films of the trip to them in the company lunch room.

Laura purchased a cuckoo clock from the Black Forest and both Ainslee and Laura bought ski sweaters at Innsbruck.

"The weather could have been nicer," Laura said, "it rained quite a bit but it didn't dampen our spirits or enjoyment of the trip. We had a good time, and would love to go back again."

Barat College To Present Five Movies

A series of five movies by internationally famous directors will be offered in the Barat College Film Forum beginning on Sept. 18, according to Sister Adelyn O'Connell, Chairman of the English department.

According to Sister O'Connell each film will be preceded by an introduction and followed by an evaluation of the film experience by expert panelists who will attempt to identify the implications for cinematic method that grows out of this search for meaning. Open discussion by the audience will follow each program.

Following is the list of dates the films will be shown, the year each was produced, and the director:

Frankfurters and other smoked sausage links are already cooked. They may be heated but are better if not cooked.

To do this, drop the hot dogs or smoked sausages in boiling water. Cover and let simmer. Simmering temperature is quite a bit below boiling. It's water bubbling around the edges of the pan, just below the surface.

Effective immediately, qualified hospitals throughout the United States are eligible to receive contributions from the Fund in amounts equalling individual, private donations by Abbott employees and eligible retirees.

To qualify, a hospital need only be listed in The Modern Hospital Directory of Hospitals and also be an institution to which contributions are deductible for federal income tax purposes.

"The nation's hospitals and related services are experiencing rapid expansion and vital growth now and for the foreseeable future," Gerden explained, "and the Directors of the Fund see this new matched-grant plan for hospitals as a worthwhile extension of Fund activities. Particularly important," he explained, "is that Abbott corporate and employee support on this basis will allow hospitals to realize additional funds for their own matching requirements under the Hill-Burton program."

The contribution by the employee or retiree must be in cash or securities with a quoted market value, but need not be limited to one hospital. The donor may, if he prefers, designate how his contribution is to be used, and the matching grant from the Fund would be designated for the same purpose, Gerden said.

The Abbott Laboratories Fund was founded in 1951 by Abbott Laboratories, a leading diversified manufacturer of health-care products distributed world-wide. The Fund also provides aid for as well as funds that match contributions by employees and eligible retirees to colleges and universities.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female he created them."

This verse from Genesis is included in the Lesson-Sermon to be read this Sunday in Christian Science churches around the world. The subject is "Man."

Related passages from the doctrinal textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, includes the following: "Man understands spiritual existence in proportion as his treasures of Truth and Love are enlarged. Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual,—they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite,—in order that sin and mortality may be put off.

"This scientific sense of being, forsaking matter for Spirit, by no means suggests man's absorption into Deity and the loss of his identity, but confers upon man enlarged individuality, a wider sphere of thought and action, a more expansive love, a higher—and more—permanent peace."

Services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, BEACON HILL, Rte. 173 and Harden, Antioch, begin at 11 a.m.

Almost every day every one of us is confronted with some question or some situation to which the answer is not readily apparent. We are not sure of the best action to take, the right thing to do. But if we will take the stand in faith that there is always a way, to meet every situation, we shall find that this way is revealed to us. It may help us to pray, give thanks, and keep ourselves open and receptive to it.

Antioch Women Aid In Cancer Study

Antioch area volunteers of the Lake County Unit of the American Cancer Society have officially completed their part in the American Cancer Society's Cancer Prevention Study, started in 1959 and continued through 1967.

Mrs. Jack Kempher was a group leader from Lake Villa and Antioch group leaders were Mrs. C. F. Spiering and Mrs. Roman Vos.

Antioch researchers were Mesdames: Lloyd E. Leoble, John Wagner, Harry Weiss, Curtis Wells, Morris Pickus, Rudy Eckert, Arthur Gertz, Louis Biel, Clarence Spiering, Elmer E. Eberman, Jr., Roman Vos, Henry Pape, John Dupre.

Lake Villa Researchers were Mrs. Evelyn Polzin, Mrs. Gordon Martin and Mrs. B. A. Krieger.

This nationwide effort, aimed at finding out why some persons are more likely to develop cancer than others, has now entered a critical new phase, where results will be tallied and analyzed for valuable leads on the elusive enemy. Some 68,000 volunteer researchers, including 5,000 in Illinois, enrolled 1,079,000 men and women, 60,651 in Illinois, over the age of 30. Each subject filled out a detailed questionnaire including family history, physical complaints, data and other factors.

Once a year, for six years, they were traced (alive or dead), and every other year, each living subject was asked to fill out a questionnaire giving additional information on hospitalization, air pollution factors and changes in smoking habits.

"This massive undertaking," Dr. John J. Zammini explains, "would have been impossible without the cooperation and continuity provided by the volunteers of the Society in units such as Lake County. The persistent detective work involved in following up the subjects in Illinois has earned national recognition. Only 6 of 1 per cent or 452 of the 60,651 subjects were lost.

"Of the 2567 persons enrolled in Lake County Unit, 184 persons died over the six year follow-up and 54 died of cancer." Type of cancer and history of patient is included in information forwarded to the Society's National office.

The Cancer Prevention Survey, one of the most valuable undertakings by the Society, continues to yield valuable clues as information is recorded on sophisticated IBM Processing, and analyzed by leading scientists on the subject. Among the valuable yield of information to date is the study of smoking in relation to death rates in women as well as men. Currently under study is the attempt to identify groups with the high risk of developing cancer and factors involved in such risks. These are but preliminary analyses. The major findings which must be a result of painstaking and exhaustive study, will be based on such factors as exercise, child bearing, breast feeding, circumcision, air pollution, and many others which will constitute a series of reports over a period of years.

Dr. Zammini says that "All of the residents of Lake County who have participated, can take a great amount of pride in knowing that they have shared with the researcher in the laboratory in one of the most exhaustive pursuits of our times—the hunt for the answers which will provide the victory over cancer."

Pollution Conference In September

Pollution control, urban blight, social problems, central business districts and regional planning are among the topics to be discussed at a state-wide community industrial development conference on Thursday, Sept. 12 in Peoria's Hotel Pere Marquette.

Theme of the day-long conference, sponsored by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, is "Environmental Factors Affecting Industrial Development."

Charles F. Willson, Chicago, conference chairman, and a member of the State Chamber's Economic Development Committee, said the workshop is designed to provide timely, practical, down-to-earth information on the economic problems affecting our communities in 1968.

"This is more important today than ever before because industrial development in Illinois requires a different approach today than it did just a few short years ago," said Willson, director of area development for the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago. "New factors and influences compel new solutions to new problems."

Willson pointed out that "if communities are to continue to grow, new jobs created and payrolls made bigger, leadership at the community level needs to focus sharply on the environment in which we now work. Because local programs in Illinois must be continually updated and intensified in order to remain competitive, it is essential that business leaders throughout the state know what elements are necessary for success. This conference is designed to fill that need."

"For all those interested in the economic future of their communities," continued Willson, "this workshop has been arranged to offer practical information and advice on 'Environmental Influences Affecting Industrial Development'—factors like pollution control, social problems, central business districts, urban blight and regional planning.

"These are problems facing not just professional industrial developers but anyone interested in his community's future well-being. For this reason the State Chamber is inviting to the conference a broad range of state-wide representation: Officers, directors and committee personnel of local chambers of commerce and other development groups; officials of companies contemplating new industrial locations; mayors, councilmen and plan-local chambers of commerce titles, and any citizen working toward sound industrial growth for his community."

Ease That Weight Loss

Meats are known for their satiating value. That means they give a satisfying feeling when they're eaten, which is what's needed for weight loss.

Satisfaction's high but calories are low on the following meat cuts: in beef, flank, steak, sirloin tip roast, standing rump roast, sirloin steak, round steak, ground beef round, heart, kidney and liver.

In pork, choose sirloin roast, loin chop, cured whole ham, tenderloin or liver. If it's lamb you like, pick leg roast or a loin chop. Any veal cut may be chosen.

All of the above meats are 250 calories or below for a serving of 3½ ounces of cooked meat.

Farm families now buy more food at food stores. Today only about 30% of the food they eat is home-grown. That's 10% less than in 1955, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture food consumption study.

The study also showed that urban families spend almost twice as much money "eating out" as do farmers. In addition, it indicated that families with large incomes allocate more money to food than those with modest incomes.

Questions About Your Heart? Read This Quiz

The Chicago Heart Association offers the following answers to questions about your heart.

Do most people who have heart disease die suddenly?

NO. In most types of heart disease, death, when it comes, is not sudden. Many sudden deaths are wrongly blamed on heart disease.

If your heart sometimes skips a beat, is this a positive sign of heart disease?

NO. Many a person with a normal heart may sometimes feel his heart skipping a beat or beating faster or slower than usual. However, it may be a sign of heart disease. In your own case, ask your doctor.

Do more people die of heart disease than of any other cause?

YES. In the United States more people die of diseases of the heart and blood vessels than of any other cause.

Does the height of blood pressure alone show how serious the condition is?

NO. The condition of the heart and arteries and their ability to withstand the pressure are more important than the height of the blood pressure. Only a doctor can determine the patient's condition.

If a baby is born with a defective heart, can anything ever be done to remedy the defect?

YES. Often surgery can help or cure the child. See your doctor.

Is it possible to have a heart murmur without having heart disease?

YES. Some people with perfectly good hearts have slight murmurs. Your doctor will tell you when a murmur is a sign of heart disease.

Can rheumatic fever be prevented?

YES. Doctors can usually prevent rheumatic fever by prompt and thorough treatment of streptococcal sore throats and certain other strep infections. Doctors often prescribe regular, continuous medication for patients who have had rheumatic fever in order to protect them against strep infections that may lead to repeat attacks of rheumatic fever.

Should employers refuse to hire people who are known to have heart disease?

NO. If the employer checks with a physician to make sure that the employee with heart disease can work at a particular job, there is no special risk.

Is there a relationship between cigarette smoking and heart disease?

YES. The heart attack rate in heavy cigarette smokers is 3 times as high as non-smokers. Death rates from heart attacks in men range from 50 to 200% higher among cigarette smokers than among non-smokers.

If you get short of breath after climbing a flight of stairs, is this a positive sign of heart disease?

NO. While shortness of breath may be a sign of heart disease, there are many other troubles that can cause this symptom. If you have this symptom, see your doctor.

When a person has coronary thrombosis, must he be an invalid for the rest of his life?

NO. Many patients recover completely.

Is a pain in the left side of the chest a positive sign of heart disease?

NO. A pain in the left side of the chest is usually not due to heart disease, but should be checked by your physician.

Do overweight people run a higher risk of death from heart disease?

YES. Insurance studies show that people who were overweight when their policies were issued had considerably higher death rates from heart disease.

Do you know what services there are in your community for people with heart disease?

If your answer is "yes," award yourself a medal of merit—but don't stop there. Work with your local Heart Association to:

(a) let others know what help is available.

(b) improve and extend present services for people with heart diseases.

Courtesy on the highways goes a long way toward reducing accidents. One way to practice road courtesy is to be the first to dim your headlights when approaching another car at night. Also, remember to dim your lights when following another car.

Illinois Editors To Hear Scott

William J. Scott, Republican candidate for Illinois Attorney General, has accepted an invitation to speak on the problems of law enforcement and crime control Sept. 14, at the annual luncheon of the Illinois Associated Press Editors Association in Alton.

Scott will stress that solutions lie in bold new thinking and dramatic new programs in his talk, "Constructive New Approaches to Law Enforcement."

The luncheon will be part of the two-day Associated Press annual editors' meeting, Sept. 14 and 15 in the Stratford Hotel. About 100 editors, publishers and their wives from newspapers throughout Illinois are expected to attend.

Scott, a former federal attorney was Illinois State Treasurer from 1962 to 1966.

Scott's Democratic opponent for the Attorney General post, Francis Lorenz, also will speak at the luncheon program.

Locked Up Poisons Prevent Tragedy

This year an estimated 500,000 children will be victims of accidental poisoning. Ninety per cent of all cases reported involve children under five years of age. Medicines, household preparations, insect sprays, kerosene, lighter fluid, some furniture polishes, turpentine, paints, solvents, and products containing lye and acids are most frequently cause of accidental poisoning among children.

The Lake County Safety Commission reminds you, always to return pills to safe storage immediately. Never leave a bottle of aspirin or other pills out of place. Return it to a safe place immediately after using.

Aspirin is the most common cause of accidental poisoning. It is found in every home—in the bedroom, the bathroom, the kitchen, and living room. Keep it out of sight and out of reach—even if it has a "safety cap."

Household products have labels which you should read and then follow the directions carefully. These instructions have been written for your protection.

Remember to keep all products in original containers says the Safety Commission. Never place kerosene, anti-freeze, paints, or solvents in cups, glasses, milk or soft-drink bottles, or other utensils customarily used for food or drinks.

Destroy old products. Pour contents down drain or toilet, and rinse container before discarding. Do not put container with its contents into refuse can.

Keep foods and household products separated. Cleaning fluids, detergents, lye, soap powders, insecticides, and other everyday household products should be stored away from food and medications. Death could be the result of a mistaken identity.

Never call medicine "candy." Children should not be deceived by having flavored medicines called "candy." When left alone, they may locate the bottle and eat or drink its contents.

Growing children are curious about things that glitter, pretty colored pills, bottles and containers of all kinds. These arouse their natural curiosity. If a child is in the crawling stage, arrange to keep household products in places other than below the kitchen sink unless the cabinet is locked. If the child is walking, be certain that bottles and boxes containing medicines or household products are put away before answering the telephone or doorbell. If he is able to climb, find a shelf that is completely beyond his ability to reach, or, better yet, lock these products in a cabinet or closet. These are your responsibilities as a good parent reminds the Lake County Safety Commission.

Preview Film On Alcoholism

A preview of films on Alcoholism in Industry was held recently at the Waukegan plant of United States Steel Corp. conference room.

Frank B. Greenleaf of the public relations department of U. S. Steel, who is co-chairman of the industrial education committee of the Lake County Council on Alcoholism, arranged and led the showing of the films and the discussion.

The film, "Time for Decision," was produced by the Union Carbide Carbon Co. especially for use by industries.

This meeting was the initial one to be held in reference to an Industrial Conference to be presented to management-level executives of industries in Lake County in October 15 in the large meeting room of the Waukegan Public Library.

This conference will be short and will carry a tremendous impact with the showing of this film together with brief talks by a leading executive and a physician who are involved in the administration of an Alcohol program in one of the largest corporations in Illinois.

Powell Endorsed By Labor

Secretary of State Paul Powell, Democratic candidate for re-election, today received the endorsement of the Illinois State Legislative Committee of the Brotherhood of Railway, Airline and Steamship Clerks Union.

In a letter to Powell, Earl G. Quinn, chairman, said, "It is my pleasant duty to inform you that our Committee has endorsed you for re-election to the Office of Secretary of State of the State of Illinois."

"Your past record in the House as a member, as a Minority Leader and as Speaker, as well as Secretary of State, in relation to organized labor and the working man warrants this endorsement. Our membership has been so advised."

"You were never afraid of losing a vote or two by publicly saying you were on the side of labor and the working man. You are truly the outstanding champion of labor in the State of Illinois."

Safety Tips For Travelers

These "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" safety tips were issued by Gerald W. Cavanagh, president of the Chicago Motor Club for Labor Day holiday driving, but apply equally well to all motor trips:

—Allow plenty of time for the trip. Leave early and stop early for the night. This is one way to avoid heavy traffic and needless fatigue.

—On long expressway trips, stop at designated rest areas every 100 miles or so for a stretch and a refreshment break.

—Don't drink alcoholic beverages if you will be behind the wheel.

—Familiarize yourself with traffic regulations of the area you plan to visit—obey them.

—Enjoy the scenery but don't neglect your driving. It's a full-time job.

—Make sure your car receives a mechanical check-up before you leave.

—Drive at a speed consistent with road and weather conditions, regardless of the posted speed limit, but do not exceed limits.

—Treat other motorists with courtesy and consideration.

Local IDS Representative Announces Sale Of New Fund

The national sales organization for Investors Diversified Services (IDS) has begun distributing shares of a new, growth-oriented mutual fund company, according to the IDS representative in this area, John Doetsch, 701 Yake St., Antioch.

The new company, IDS New Dimensional Fund, Inc., will be the fifth such company for which IDS provides investment advisory and distribution services.

Harold K. Bradford, Minneapolis, president and board chairman of the other four funds, will also head the new company.

Doetsch explained that the principal objective of IDS New Dimensions Fund will be capital appreciation, and that its portfolio will be invested mainly in common stock of companies which the management of the fund considers to have above average growth potential by reason of a high degree of competence in technology, marketing or management.

He said the new fund gives IDS sales representatives a more complete line of equity products to help meet the varying investment objectives of customers.

IDS representatives also sell life insurance and annuities, face-amount investment certificates and Keough Act retirement plans for the self-employed.

U. S. Leads in Hiring of Retarded

The Federal Government Experimental Program of hiring the mentally retarded in Federal Civil Service jobs has proven so successful that it is expected to become a regular employment policy of the Federal agencies. Since the program began through an executive order of President Kennedy in September 1963, 39 Federal agencies have hired a total of 3,900 retarded persons.

Among the agencies who have employed the greatest number are Post Office Department, 739; General Services Administration, 532; Dept. of the Army, 430; Dept. of the Army, 437; Treasury Dept., 402, and the Veterans Administration, 569.

In Illinois, training and certification for Federal positions for the retarded are handled by the Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation. Those interested in exploring employment possibilities should contact their local D.V.R. office. The IAMR has been urging the establishment of a similar program for state Civil Service positions in Illinois which would open hundreds more positions to the retarded throughout the state.

Racing Ends At Wilmot

Sept. 2—Roger Otto of Burlington won the final night of racing at the Kenosha County Speedway at Wilmot. The race was run on Labor Day night when the regular night was rained out on Aug. 31. Otto won $461.00 in purse and lap prize money from a total of $3105.00 contributed by a crowd of 3827, the largest of the 1968 season.

Following is the final point standings for the modified and late model stock cars. Eligible drivers will share in the Interstates Racing Association point fund of nearly $9,000.00 at the Awards and Point Fund Dinner at the Wonder Bar in Twin Lakes, Wis., on Saturday night, Oct. 12.

Thrill Show Friday At Waukegan Track

Sept. 1, 1968—The month of August at the Waukegan Speedway came to a wet end Saturday night as rain forced the cancellation of the scheduled late model and hobby stock events. September then promptly started out on the wrong foot as heavy rains washed out the modified races Sunday.

There will be late model racing next Saturday night at Waukegan and the modifieds will return Sunday. Hobby stocks will race both nights.

On Friday night, Sept. 6, the Waukegan Speedway will host the world famous Joie Chitwood Auto Thrill Show. This show was originally scheduled for late June but it fell victim to rains that month.

The Chitwood Show will not only present updated and more daring versions of the automobile aerobatics that has thrilled audiences for 25 years, but this year's tour includes Mike and Lou Sibold. These youngsters, only six and seven years old, will race in their own special race with their own specially prepared cars.

The Chitwood Group offers entertainment for the whole family as the clown antics of Wimpey punctuate the precision stunt-driving and the dangerous crashes. The program is scheduled to begin at 8 p. m.

Bond Issue Necessary

The Natural Resources Development Bond referendum, going before the Illinois voters in November, offers the first comprehensive statewide attempt to manage the state's water and land resources, and overcome water and air pollution.

This one billion dollar proposal will meet the needs of Illinois from now to 1980, and set the basic framework for an ongoing program to cover the next 50 years, explains Gene Graves, Chairman of the Natural Resources Development Board, and Director of the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development.

Various water and air problems are faced by residents throughout the entire state. In some areas, the increasing population and industrialization are placing terrific burdens on existing water supplies. Other areas suffer from chronic flood damage or lack of sufficient outdoor recreation facilities. Still other communities are unable to finance costly sewage treatment plants, and continue to dump untreated sewage into Illinois streams. In some industrial and urban areas, polluted air is an ever increasing problem.

While the problems vary from community to community, they, in fact, affect everyone who lives in Illinois, since air and water pollution knows no boundaries, Graves pointed out. The sewage dumped by one town may seriously affect a downstream municipality's drinking water.

The pollution which enters the air in one part of the state may cause a health hazard or damage vegetation miles and miles away from its source. The annual $30 million flood damage in the state puts an economic drain on all residents. Similarly, the lack of sufficient recreation areas means that valuable tourists dollars are lost to other states.

While Illinois has large water resources in its streams, lakes and reservoirs, these supplies are not uniformly distributed. Future demands for water are highly correlated with population and economic activity. The population is expected to increase from the present 10.5 million to some 13 million by 1980. Industry is anticipated to expand and place increasing demands upon the present water supplies.

"People are becoming more aware of the hazards posed by water pollution and desire to improve conditions in Illinois waters beyond standards which were tolerated in the past," Graves said.

At the present time, annual capital costs for waste treatment facilities to control pollution is a little over $85 million. This cost is expected to increase to about $207 million by 1980, and continue to go up at a fast rate for the next 50 years.

Graves also reported that the traditional concept of soil and water conservation, being largely limited to erosion and runoff control on farms, is outdated by rapid urbanization. "The broad program to conserve and develop this vital resource of our state is a concern of all residents," he said.

Illinois ranks almost last in providing adequate water-related recreation space for its residents. Presently, there are approximately only 5.7 acres of public open space per 1,000 population. At the same time, conservation authorities point out that the state has a great potential for development of an outstanding system of recreational centers connected by linear parkways.

Despite the expenditures of more than $125 million in Federal, state and local funds during the past 30 years, Illinois still suffers greatly from annual flood damages. "In the past few years, more than $100 million for flood control projects has been recommended, but no funds were available to carry out the plans," Graves said.

Another factor which is of great economic importance to Illinois, is the utilization of its waterways for navigational purposes. The potential is great for future expansion of the waterway systems—including the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers, the Illinois waterway and the St. Lawrence Seaway—to provide both transportation facilities and recreation areas.

Riots Are Disease: Sen. Simon

"Riots are a symptom of a more deep-seated disease," said State Senator Paul Simon in an article in The Justinian Journal, and we ultimately cannot stop the riot without curing the disease."

Simon, the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, said Illinois can be proud of its record in general, but he deplored "the blemishes on our record which any honest historian must note." He urged in the legal publication article that "lawyers should know a community's basic problems and can do immeasurable good in helping to resolve them."

The article, "Riots in Illinois History," was adapted by Senator Simon from an address he delivered at the annual meeting of the Illinois State Historical Society last fall.

The major riots cited in Senator Simon's article were pre-Civil War violence in Alton when abolitionist publisher Elijah P. Lovejoy was killed; the 1864 riot against the draft in Coles County; the 1895 Haymarket Riot; the 1908 Springfield riot in which at least six died; the World War I Collinsville riot in which a coal miner, Robert Prager, was killed by a mob that thought he was a German spy; the 1917 East St. Louis riot; the 1919 Chicago riot; and recent disorders in the state in Chicago, Cairo, Peoria, East St. Louis and elsewhere.

"There are some very obvious lessons (from the riots)," Senator Simon wrote. "That justice should be administered by the courts and not mobs, that understanding is a great need of our society."

"But I believe we can go beyond that and learn other lessons. "1. Mob action can occur in the most unlikely locations.

"2. Those who engage in violence often defeat their own ends.

"3. Every community needs a well-trained force which respects the rights of all citizens and enforces the law with equal firmness.

"4. Riots are but a symptom of a more deep-seated disease, and we ultimately cannot stop the riots without curing the disease.

"What concerns me most, as I view our history and as I view our current scene, is the general indifference to the problems. History should teach us that we tolerate such indifference at our peril.

"Those who fail to come up with responsible answers are only inviting extremists to enter the field. "If responsible citizens are willing to realistically face the needs which exist today, and the differing needs which will exist a decade from now, then riots on the Illinois scene will make their appearance rarely. This is one page of history we should not want to fill."

funds needed to work across the board and meet the needs of the residents," Graves said. "We can't waste any more time, since we are already running far behind in fulfilling the demands placed upon our resources."

Prize Shoot On Sunday

The McHenry Sportsmen's Club is rushing the Autumn season with an Early Fall 'Prize Shoot' Sunday, Sept. 8, at their trap range on the west side of Pistakee Bay. Shooting will start at 11 a.m. and continue until evening sets in.

Shooters will compete for young fryers and JoPat tender-aged steaks in a wide range of contests in which all classes of shooters can win prizes. All of the White Bird shoots will be on the day's card, as will the Hi-Lo, Annie Oakley and Protection Shoots. The public is invited to participate.

All of this being preliminary to the club's big annual Championship Shoot and picnic which comes off the following Sunday. Club members will shoot it out for the Classes A, B, C, Junior, Senior, and Ladies championship. Also at stake is the Club Championship, with all indications pointing to a large entry and a fiercely fought set of contests to decide the winner.

At the same time, members and their families will devour over three hundred barbecued aged JoPat steaks and frankfurters, plus all the trimmings that go with it. Games and prizes for the ladies and kids will be on the all-day program.

This affair is for club members only, and their immediate family. It is closed to the public. This is the only McHenry Sportsmen's Club affair to which the public is not invited.

A prize shoot is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 22, and is open to the public, as are all prize shoots.

FINE AND DANDY

Down in Alexandria, La., Pharel Deville, a former resident who now lives in Abilene, Texas, was glad that he was arrested for speeding when he handed a check for his fine. The deputy sheriff insisted that he pay in cash. He went to the bank and upon identifying himself, Deville was surprised to find that his father had left $30,000 in a bank account and the money had been unclaimed since his father's death 15 years ago.

Late Model Feature Race Sat. At Waukegan Track

Waukegan, Sept. 2—Rain again interfered with the scheduled auto races at the Waukegan Speedway Labor Day night, but not until five events were in the record book, so the program became history. Next Saturday's late model feature will be increased to 40 laps and the postponed head-on demo will also be held then.

A light shower early in the qualification runs threatened to halt the activities, but with all of the late models coming onto the track, the track soon was back in shape and Scott Moore turned in the fastest lap. For the young Mundein speedster, quick time was most important as with the rains he picked up the prize money for winning the feature.

When the feature and semi-feature events are rained out, as happened Monday night, the prize money is distributed to the drivers according to their qualifying times with the fastest qualifier given the feature win money. Al Hagerty, of Libertyville, was second qualifier and Mike Wolff, of Lake Villa, was third.

Dave Evans handily won the trophy dash for the six best qualifiers. Delain Doles won the first heat and Bob Hopkins captured the second. Then as Bob May took the win in the third heat, a light rain started falling.

With the track a little slick, the hobby cars were called out. A downpour in the middle of their race brought out the red flag. Officials waited about 15 minutes while the rain continued before calling off the remainder of the races.

Wayne Dyer Wins DeSoto Shoot

Wayne Dyer of Savage Rd., Antioch, won the Championship Shoot at Riverside Gun Club in DeSoto, Wis., Sunday.

Twenty persons participated in the trophy shoot and Dyer broke all 25 targets for a clean sweep of the score.
